

CUTS CITEE in Action

September-October 2006

CUTS @ WTO Public Forum 2006

The World Trade Organisation (WTO) organised its annual Public Forum on September 25-26, 2006 in Geneva. CUTS Centre for International Trade, Economics & Environment (CUTS CITEE) organised two sessions in this Forum on September 26, 2006.

Operationalising Aid for Trade

The objective of this session was to deliberate the issues for operationalising Aid for Trade (AfT) from the perspectives of developing countries, particularly least developed countries (LDCs), and other stakeholders so as to evolve a roadmap for taking forward this initiative. Keeping in mind the recommendations of the Task Force on AfT, this session discussed the following issues: (1) Expectations, particularly of LDCs, from the AfT initiative (2) Role of donors and inter-governmental organisations for operationalising AfT (3) An effective AfT partnership: Local accountability and global review.

Ambassador Mia Horn

The speakers for this session were: Mia Horn Af Rantzien, Ambassador and Permanent Representative of Sweden to the UN and Other International Organizations in Geneva; Susan Barton, DFID, UK; Khadija Rachida Masri, Ambassador and Permanent Observer of the African Union in Geneva; Harmon Thomas, UNCTAD; Martina Garcia, OECD.

Some key recommendations were: involvement of stakeholders; donors' expertise on trade issues; role of the WTO in the implementation of AfT. Mainstreaming trade into the developmental strategies is another key issue, which require utmost attention. The session identified the donors' role in AfT operationalisation. There is a need for donors to become partners in development. In order to realise this objective, the donors should support the country led process of development.

It is crucial to make an assessment of the current inequality situation and the likely impacts of increased trade on inequality. For this identification of the barriers that prevent the poorest, engaging women and marginalised groups in trade opportunities is must.

The operationalisation of AfT should not be linked to the Doha Round negotiations. Another important question that will need to be addressed by Africa is whether it should push for binding commitments or not under the initiative. If not, why and with what quid pro quos? G-20 Civil Society Views on WTO

This session was jointly organised by FES and CUTS. The objectives of the working session were to highlight the G-20 civil society perspectives on the WTO and to identify the main challenges for G-20 civil society.

The speakers for this session were Thomas Manz, Coordinator of the Dialogue on Globalisation Programme, Friedrich-Ebert-Foundation (FES), Berlin, Germany; Umberto Celli Jr., International Trade Law and Development Institute, Brazil; Mzukisi Qobo, Research Associate, South African Institute of International Affairs (SAIIA), South Africa; Pradeep S. Metha, Secretary General, CUTS International, India; Ricardo Melendez-Ortiz, Chief Executive, International Centre for Trade and Sustainable Development (ICTSD), Switzerland.

The presentations of the panellists and the discussion showed the following points:

- G-20 civil society is not homogenous, but rather a very heterogeneous and highly complex entity, comprising of a wide range of perspectives.
- in order to be effective at global level, G-20 civil society groups have to start at national level to lobby their interests.
- it was mentioned that G-20 civil society has the responsibility to guarantee that the benefits of trade liberalisation are distributed equally among the people.

One principal recommendation is that the WTO should provide for a more structured and institutionalised procedure to include civil society actors in the discussion of global issues. As a precondition for a more civil society engagement, it was mentioned that the WTO procedures should become more transparent and inclusive. Stocktaking on WTO Negotiations: Concerns of Developing Countries

Pradeep S Mehta delivered a presentation on South Asian position and the way forward in SAARC Chamber of Commerce and Industry (SCCI) session 'Stocktaking on WTO Negotiations: Concerns of Developing Countries' held on September 26, 2006 at the WTO Public Forum.

The purpose of this session was to highlight and raise issues of developing countries, particularly South Asia, at an international forum.

Trade and Development post non-Doha: Let's get real

Pranav Kumar participated in the Evian Group Session on "Trade and Development post non-Doha: Let's get real" held on September 26, 2006 at the WTO Public Forum.

The purpose of the meeting was to explore new ways to increase public awareness of the multi-lateral trading system and its benefits, simultaneously seeking to explode some of the myths abounding the international trading system and globalisation, and retain, indeed advocate and widely disseminate the realities of development in the context of both the limits and opportunities that trade provides.

EVENTS

KIC Inception Workshop

Jaipur, September 9, 2006

WTO Issues

The happenings at the WTO exert impacts on all countries in a variety of ways. Multilateral trade negotiations, agreements and their implementation, including dispute settlement are some of the issues being covered in this monthly e-newsletter. Since we started our journey in South Asia and that we have specific regional projects on the WTO issues, a section of this e-newsletter is devoted to such issues vis-à-vis this region. Issues emanating from the rest of the world are placed separately.

Regional Economic Cooperation

In this e-newsletter the section 'Bilateral Cooperation' covers latest news on the bilateral FTAs between different countries in the world while the section 'Regional Cooperation' covers latest happenings on the RTAs between different countries in the world.

Developmental Issues

In line with the mission of "pursuing economic equity and social justice within and across borders", this e-newsletter is devoted to disseminate the latest information on three crucial issues of global sustenance: international trade policies and its impact on development; relationship between multilateral environmental agreements and international trade; and institutions and pro-poor growth.

BRIEFING PAPERSSuspension of Doha Round Talks:
The Cost Implications for India

Author: Pradeep S Mehta & Pranav Kumar
Secretary General & Policy Analyst of CUTS
International

This Briefing Paper addresses the prevailing imbalances in the world trading system, including economic loss due to suspension, impacts on geopolitics, setback to economic reforms and the cost of litigious disputes. The paper can be viewed at: <http://www.cuts-citee.org/PDF/CostofFailure.pdf>

SAFTA: An Instrument For Peace & Prosperity

Author: N C Pahariya
Associate Professor, Department of Economics,
University of Rajasthan and Fellow of CUTS

The Briefing Paper argues for SAFTA to be used as an instrument of peace dividend, which may provide an all-time opportunity to forge sustained peaceful political and economic relations between the two nations i.e. India and Pakistan based on mutual respect and cooperation much similar to what the European nations have developed under the umbrella of EU. The paper can be viewed at: <http://www.cuts-citee.org/PDF/SAFTA-2006-NCP.pdf>

MONOGRAPHS

Author:
Chandan Mukherjee
Research Assistant,
CUTS International

'ABC of Trade Facilitation' is the 10th monograph in the series titled, 'Globalisation and India – Myths & Realities' launched by CUTS way back in September 2001. This series aims to create awareness among the civil society representatives, business community and government officials, especially at the sub-national level on economic issues, in general, and the WTO issues, in particular.

This monograph attempts to educate the reader and build a fundamental foundation for understanding the basic issues concerning TF under GATT. The monograph can be viewed at: <http://www.cuts-citee.org/PDF/abc-TF.pdf>

ADVOCACYIndia to provide Preferential Market Access to LDCs

India is about to announce its offer of duty-free, quota-free market access to LDCs. CUTS has conducted advocacy in this regard. To view this please click on the link: <http://www.cuts-international.org/cuts-advocacyPublications.htm#PMA>

Trade Policy Making in India
Need for A Separate Department of International Trade and Trade Diplomacy

There is a need for a specialised International Trade Policy Department to provide some specialised expertise on a continuing basis. CUTS have prepared a short note on this. You can access the full text by clicking the following link: <http://www.cuts-citee.org/PDF/TradePolicy.pdf>

IN MEDIAEcolabels? You must be joking
September 15, 2006, Business Standard
New Delhi, India

One of the biggest changes in the last decade is the high degree of awareness amongst urban schoolchildren of environmental issues. But will these same children, when they begin to wield authority in the workplace, continue to be as aware? For more click on <http://www.cuts-citee.org/mediaSeptember06.htm>

Ecomark scheme cries for industry attention
October 06, 2006, The Financial Express
New Delhi, India

Even 15 years after it became operational, the Indian Ecomark Scheme has not gained the attention of the consumer and the industry. The National Environment Policy Statement of India, 2006 had recognised the role of ecolabels on products in promoting environmental conservation.
